ANALYSIS:

Here the responses from the institutional heads of different practice teaching schools show that they are happy as well as satisfied with the performance of our student teachers. The statements scaled in the feedback form further brings to the fore that the teaching knowledge, maintaining cordial relationship, leadership qualities, communication skill and competency of our student teachers have been well appreciated by the heads of different practice teaching schools. The overall mean (37) also upholds that all the institutional heads have responded to the statements in the same way. Thus they have come to a positive consensus about the performance of our student teachers.

ANALYSIS TAKEN REPORT:

Since the feedback collected from our practice teaching schools showed a positive reflection in the above given statements, we came to a simple conclusion that the overall performance of our trainee teachers was really satisfactory in the given parameters. We decided in the meeting of I.Q.A.C. that the existing quality in imparting training to our trainee teachers be persistently retained further. Adequate actions were taken to ensure this.
