1. Provision in the Time Table

In Ramakrishna Mission Sikshanamandira students are encouraged to undergo various self-study courses. To encourage and facilitate students in their pursuit of self-study courses, our institution has incorporated provisions in the time table dedicated to such endeavors. This initiative allows students the flexibility to engage in online or offline self-study courses. By allocating dedicated time slots within the timetable, students can effectively manage their academic commitments alongside their self-study courses. This provision empowers students to explore diverse subjects of interest, enhance their skills, and foster independent learning. It also ensures that self-study is given due importance within the overall curriculum, promoting a holistic and comprehensive education for our students.

Suggestions :

- I guided Tarapada Kumbhakar for Self-Study programme (I gave some suggestions from the previous year Questions/ Solve the Questions)
- I gave extra classes to on career-counselling. This could help all the students of our institution to brief out which part he is interested in. (I suggested them various options). I also guided them rather told them the application process.
- I prepared them for competitive examinations. These exams are very tricky and the students should be prepared before hand.
- I encouraged them to do acting and Anchoring. Both of these works boost up the confidence of the students. Thus it is very important to make them practise these kinds of work which could help them in their careers too.
